

Army Community Service seeks support for Army Family Action Plan Symposium

Individuals are encouraged to provide input at the Army Family Action Plan Symposium March 29-30 at the Weckerling Center.

The symposium is a two-day forum open to all members of the Monterey military community, including service members, family members, retirees and Department of Defense civilians.

Meals and childcare are provided for both days for delegates who attend.

During the U.S. Army Community and Family Support Center's 1999 AFAP conference held in November, the delegates voted basic allowance for housing as the top issue.

The 123 delegates made a recommendation to increase the funding for basic allowance for housing and change the criteria for how data is collected to calculate BAH.

The second issue at the November AFAP conference was that of graduation requirements for transitioning high school family members. The delegates recommended establishing a full-time educational liaison staff at installations to assist parents and students, and allow soldiers with family members in their senior year of high school to extend so they can graduate with their peers and obtain a proper high school diploma.

The third most important issue was the TriCare vision plan. The recommendation was that glasses, contact lens exams, contact lenses and the services associated with them be placed under the TriCare umbrella.

The fourth issue was Education Transition Assistance for kindergarten through 12th grade military family members, and the last issue was funding for the Army Family Action Plan and Army Family Team Building.

Past and current AFAP issues, recommendations, status and resolutions are posted under the Army Family Action Plan on the Army Morale, Welfare and recreation site at www.armymwr.com.

Individuals may also submit their written input on quality of life issues including housing, medical and dental, entitlements, employment, and family support program.

To submit concerns or ideas, write down the

- ☐ Issue,
- ☐ Scope,
- ☐ Recommendations,
- ☐ Definition of success, and
- ☐ Cost benefit for your concerns.

You may also include your name, address and phone number to have Army Community Service contact you about the resolution of the issue you raised. Then deliver your inputs to Army Community Service, at the Stilwell Community Center, Building 4260.

For more information, to volunteer, or to register as a delegate, call Army Community Service at 242-7660.

New pediatricians join staff of Army Health Clinic

Beginning Wednesday, TriCare Prime families in the Monterey area will have more choices when selecting a pediatrician for their children.

Four civilian pediatricians from Salinas will provide pediatric coverage as TriCare primary care managers at the U. S. Army Health Clinic at the Presidio of Monterey. All of these specialists are board certified by the American Board of Pediatrics and have achieved this certification by completing an additional three-year training program beyond their medical degree.

Doctors James Brennan, Lewis Cantor, Reid Giedt and Karen Kamachi have a group practice in Salinas, which they will continue to maintain along with their coverage at the Presidio clinic. Military active duty family members enrolled in TriCare Prime are encouraged to choose one of these pediatricians for their children.

An open house is scheduled at the clinic Tuesday, noon to 3 p.m. All military family members and children are welcome to come and meet the new doctors. Refreshments will be served and TriCare representatives will be available with Prime enrollment applications and primary care manager change forms.

For more information on the open house or TriCare services, call the TriCare Service Center at (800) 242-6788. (Courtesy of Foundation Health Federal Services TriCare Marketing)

From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Commander discusses Town Hall meeting

Security, RV policies top list of concerns

Hello All,

Want to thank you for the outstanding turnout at the last Town Hall Meeting. The greatest gift you can give is your presence and time, and we certainly appreciate the personal contact to assist us in determining how to chart the best course for our community. Major concerns that I heard without reviewing all the issue cards were security and the RV lot.

Security concerns appeared to revolve around the recent thefts within the Ord Military Community. As Chief Alex Kerekes very aptly explained, it's up to us to protect ourselves and secure our belongings. The police are not able to be everywhere, and we actually have a much better overall coverage than any of the municipalities around the area. We have tools to help ourselves; the Neighborhood Watch Program is specifically designed to be our hedge against crime. It's something very worthwhile that we can do to help ourselves. There is a great limit to what one person can watch over, but together our span of watchfulness increases tremendously. We trust that the policy presently being drafted to allow you at your cost to secure your carports in accordance with housing plans will also help.

There seemed to be some confusion about the policy regarding recreational vehicles, trailers and boats. The intent of the policy has always been to keep RVs, trailers and boats off the streets and out of driveways and carports. However, there was some ambiguity in the way the past policy was written, and it led to individual interpretations: What size trailers/boats/RVs can't be parked in the community? What about if they fit in the carport, etc.?

Army Col. Peter Dausen
Garrison Commander

We modified the policy to ensure it was clear with the original intent. However, we heard the concern that folks felt victimized that they had to take their trailers out of their community and into a secure pay lot run by MWR. There is no requirement that you have to secure your trailer, boat or RV in the MWR lot, but it is the best deal around, with a monthly cost of $25 as compared with $75 for the least expensive lot off post.

A comment was made referencing the cost to store an aircraft at the Monterey Peninsula Airport, supposedly for $15 per month. We checked that out; actual cost is $70 + per month in the open and, if you wish to store your aircraft in a hanger, it's $300+ per month. Even though we think we are providing a very cost effective service with the RV lot, we want to make it the best we can. We are in the process of examining a charge plan by military pay grade so that the highest cost will be borne by those who are most able to afford it. More to follow. We hope that this will help. Thanks for listening.

Presidio Police offer tips for crime prevention

In continuing crime prevention efforts, the Presidio of Monterey Police offers the following information on general personal safety when at work or traveling to and from work.

Breakdowns

Keep car in good working order; for example, take care of regular maintenance and watch the gas gauge.

Cell phones are an excellent investment for those who spend a lot of time on the road.

Keep a "Call Police" sign and or a white cloth to signal for help.

Know how to change a tire.

If you break down, stay in the car with your doors locked, and the window up or slightly cracked open.

Ask anyone who stops to call police for help – do not get out of car.

Car Jacking

Car jacking is robbery. Car jackers are dangerous and unpredictable.

Prevention includes, locked doors, rolled up windows and paying attention when you are stopped.

If targeted and a safe escape is not present, follow instructions and turn over the vehicle.

Parking Areas

Parking lots are a rich target for thieves and personal attacks. Be aware that you are in a very high-risk area.

Be familiar with your office parking areas – which areas offer the best "plain view" and which are isolated. If you will be leaving after dark, park near light.

Scan the parking lot before you exit your vehicle.

Team up with others when leaving for the day.

Trust your instincts. React if your safety is compromised; if they can't get to you, they can't hurt you.

Maintain body space. Use what you have in the lot to create distance between you and the potential threat.

High risk hours at the office

Highest risk hours are before and after regular business hours.

Notify security.

Relocate car.

Lock office doors.

Have a plan if you are caught off guard.

Do not advertise that you are alone.

Call home before you leave.

Scan parking lot for several minutes before entering.

Access control

Have a policy for identifying strangers.

Limit access to office to one or two monitored areas, such as the reception desk.

Have employees wear ID cards and visitors wear visitor passes.

Establish a policy for reporting a suspicious person, including who to call and the number to call.

Restrooms are high target areas. Public/private separation most desirable. Go in pairs or let someone know that you are going.

Avoid stairwells; they offer isolation and sound proofing. Stay in heavily traveled areas of building; avoid basement, maintenance, and roof areas.

Do not get on an elevator if you are uncomfortable. Do not challenge a harasser inside the elevator.

If you become uncomfortable once inside, push the button for the next floor and get off.

Note the location of the alarm in the building, and call someone on your cell phone until you reach your destination.

Theft

Don't bring it to work, if you don't absolutely need it.

Keep only minimal cash or credit cards.

If you make a purchase during lunch, lock it in the trunk or in a file cabinet.

Do not leave purses on floor, desk or chair back.

Do not leave car keys on desk or in top drawer.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.

The organization should have a policy for reporting. Put the harasser on notice; these problems rarely go away on their own. Record incidents and details. Solicit interference from a co-worker.

Safety is everybody's responsibility if you have any concerns or questions contact the Presidio of Monterey Police Department, Crime Prevention Officer Preston Proctor at 242-7868.

Census Bureau numbers must include military members

By Jim Garamone

American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON — Counting the population of the United States is so important, it is an integral part of the Constitution.

This is because population determines the number of seats each state has in the House of Representatives. The census is also often used to apportion funds to states and municipalities.

Military service members and their family members must be counted also. The Census Bureau will work with military officials to ensure all service members and their families are “enumerated” by the bureau.

Here’s how military members are to be counted:

- ❑ Service members living in the United States are counted at their usual residence, the place where they live and sleep most of the time, whether on-base or off-base.

- ❑ Service members assigned to installations outside the United States – including families with them – are counted as part of the U.S. overseas population.

- ❑ Crews of ships homeported in the United States are counted at their usual onshore residence – where they live and sleep most of the time. If they report no onshore residence they are counted at the ships’ homeports.

- ❑ Crews of ships homeported outside the United States are counted as part of the U.S. overseas population.

So, this is where service members will be counted, but for apportionment of the seats in the House of Representatives, they will be assigned to their voting residence, said Census officials.

Each base has a project officer to work with the Census Bureau. Service members fill out special forms called Military Census Reports. They can claim their home addresses or report the address of their barracks.

Service members living in family housing in the United States will receive a questionnaire just like civilians in the surrounding communities. However, service members must fill out both the military census report and questionnaires.

The first counts for the 2000 Census have already been made. Census Bureau Director Kenneth Prewitt personally enumerated residents of Unalakleet, Alaska, Jan. 20 to kick off the first U.S. population census of the new century.

The scene will shift to the rest of the United States with about 100 million advance letters going to households between March 6 and 8. Census will mail the questionnaires March 13 to 15. April 1 is Census Day. The questionnaires will ask how many people are in the household on April 1, 2000. “That’s how we get the snapshot of America,” said a Census Bureau spokesperson.

The Census Bureau needs workers to fill thousands of short-term employment slots during Census 2000. Prewitt urged everyone interested in a census job to call the agency’s toll-free number, 1-888-325-7733.

Military family members can apply for these jobs. Department of Defense civilians can also work these part-time jobs on their off hours. The addresses of local census offices are available on the Internet at www.census.gov/jobs2000/www/where.html.

The Project Office for Census 2000 is the Office of the Adjutant General at 242-5177 or 242-6322. Expect more information through the Community News, as well as your appropriate service’s chain of command.

Web site offers federal voting assistance information

By Army Staff Sgt. Kathleen Rhem

American Forces Information Service

WASHINGTON – You can tell it’s an election year, because there’s a nonstop media barrage telling which candidates are saying what where. But where do uniformed members find clear-cut information on how to vote in their home districts?

Well, look no further than the Federal Voting Assistance Program Web site, www.fvap.ncr.gov. Program officials have created the “one-stop shop” for the roughly 6 million potential voters covered under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act of 1986.

The FVAP is responsible for informing and educating all U.S. citizens worldwide of their right to vote, fostering voter participation and protecting the integrity of the electoral process at the federal, state and local levels.

To military members and civilian employees and their families stationed overseas, the different voting rules at federal, state and local levels may be as confusing as a maze. Perhaps the most important thing for them to know about absentee voting is how and why to fill out the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot, Standard Form 186.

When a Web site visitor clicks on “Learn About Absentee Voting,” several links will lead to different information about the postcard-sized form, which isn’t available online. Individuals are advised to see their unit voting assistance officer.

The site gives guidelines for determining or establishing a legal residence. Residency and other rules are spelled out by clicking on “Learn About Absentee Voting” and then on “Voting Residence for UOCAVA Citizens.”

Other helpful features on the site include links to state election sites, a handy chart listing the dates of all state primary elections, and answers to frequently asked questions. There is also a link to a U.S. House of Representatives page that lets visitors search for their representatives by state and ZIP code.

The site further helps unit voting assistance officers by providing information on training and allowing them to download pamphlets and flyers about the Federal Voting Assistance Program.

Civil Relief Act may offer lower interest rate on preservice loans

Do have a debt bearing interest charges you incurred before you enlisted? Are you having trouble paying it off? You may be able to reduce the interest rate on a pre-service loan to 6 percent retroactive to the date you entered active duty. This interest rate limit is a tremendous benefit of one of the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act. The only non-qualifying loans are federally guaranteed student loans.

The Legal Assistance Office, building 275, at 242-5083, and Education Center, building 630, at 242-5325, have a sample letter you may use to write to your creditors informing them of the federal legal requirement to lower the interest rate, if your earnings are less now that you're in the military. The Education Center provides computers to enable you to print your own original letter. You must attach a copy of your order to active duty. The letter properly asks the creditor to apply any excess interest you've already paid to the principal. State your pre-service and current military income and attach tax returns or pay statements so the creditor can do its own comparison. Send it certified return receipt. The longer you wait to take advantage of this benefit, the more often the creditor moves in slow motion to grant your request and recompute your loan.

A few lending institutions literally hate this provision and will seek to deny your request on bogus grounds such as "it only applies in wartime" and "you're not a Reservist." The creditor may play sneaky and say you don't have to pay the excess over 6 percent and apply a lump-sum reduction at the end of the loan while requiring the service member to make the same monthly payments. When your legitimate request for an interest rate reduction is denied, make an appointment to see your legal assistance attorney at 242-5083 or 242-5084. If your letter is not answered within six weeks, follow up, sending a copy of your first letter and a copy of the postal green card return receipt which proves the company received it. (Courtesy of Legal Assistance and Education Center)

Additional note from the Education Center:

All computers at the POM Education Center have the pre-printed form letter to reduce your interest rate on any pre-service personal debt to 6 percent retroactively to the date you entered active duty. This 6 percent limit is one of the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 and is a tremendous benefit to all service members.

In one case, a sergeant at the Presidio of Monterey had $3,000 reimbursed to her for excess interest paid since entering the Army in 1994. Just bring in the address of your loan holder and account number to insert on our word processors; and you can print out the letter for mailing all in one visit.

Army Personnel Tests available

Army Personnel Testing, or APT, program encompasses the following standardized tests to determine eligibility for specialized training and to support the Army's personnel selection and classification process:

Alternate Flight Aptitude

Selection Test or AFAST evaluates enlisted candidates for MOS 93B, and warrant officers and officers applying for admission to the Army flight program.

A general technical score of 110 is required to submit an application for flight training. Given the limitations on retesting on the AFAST, it is strongly recommended that an individual have a GT of 110 prior to taking the AFAST. If a qualifying score is obtained on the first test, no further testing is permitted. If a qualifying score is not obtained on the first test, one retest is permitted but not earlier than six months following the initial test date. This is in accordance with the APT retest policy.

AFAST scores are no longer retrievable from Fort Rucker. However, soldiers who do not have their scores in their personnel record and took the AFAST prior to June 1997, may be able to retrieve them from this office. Requests must be in writing, stating that all other measures to locate test scores have been exhausted. Include the soldier's name, social security number and date of test. Ensure that a good mailing address and POC for the request is included as well. Requests must be on command letterhead and signed by the soldier's commander.

SJA office provides tax tips for military

The following are a portion of the tax tips provided by the Staff Judge Advocate's office, created for military personnel. The series of tax tips will continue through much of the tax preparation season.

TAX TIP: How do I report the Employee Business Expense deduction on my tax return? You must itemize (i.e., use the Form 2106 and the Schedule A) to claim these expenses.

TAX TIP: Where do I mail my tax return if I am an overseas taxpayer? You should send your return to Internal Revenue Service Center, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19255.

TAX TIP: Can I deduct my unreimbursed travel expenses in using my POV to do charity work? Yes, you can deduct your actual expenses or use a flat rate of 14 cents per mile (plus tolls and parking fees). There are, however, restrictions if your travel involves being away from your home (e.g., taking a trip to another state to do charitable services). There must be no significant element of personal pleasure, recreation, or vacation in the travel. Finally, you can only take charitable contribution deductions by itemizing, using the Schedule A.

TAX TIP: Did Congress pass any new laws changing the tax on capital gains? Yes. The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 reduced the maximum capital gains rate and the IRS Restructuring and Reform Act of 1998 reduced the holding period for long term capital gains. Assets sold after Jan. 1, 1998 that are held for 12 months or longer are taxed at a maximum rate of 20 percent. If you are in the 15 percent tax bracket, the sale of these assets are taxed at a 10 percent rate.

TAX TIP: If I am renting out a home, over how many years can I depreciate the structure? It depends on when you purchased it and when you started renting it out. Depending on these issues, the answer to this question is 15, 18, 19, or 27.5 years. Homes rented out for the first time after 1986 are depreciated over 27.5 years.

TAX TIP: Can military personnel avoid reporting housing allowances and yet still take deductions for their mortgage interest payments and real estate taxes? Yes. The Tax Reform Act of 1986 created a specific statutory right for military taxpayers to do this.

For more information on federal income tax filing, contact your unit tax representative.

Installation tax center offers electronic filing

Electronic filing is available to active duty personnel and their family members and at the Presidio of Monterey Staff Judge Advocate Tax Center located at Building 275. Tax filers must first have their returns prepared personally or by their appointed Unit Tax Advisor. Tax Center hours of operation are from 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

Electronic tax return filing provides a faster refund and is a free service provided by the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate. You generally will receive your refund within two to four weeks after filing your return. The following returns can be filed electronically: Form 1040, Form 1040A, and Form 1040EZ.

Electronic filing uses automation to replace many manual steps needed to process paper returns. As a result, processing for electronic returns is faster and more accurate. However, errors on the return or problems with its transmission can delay processing. As with a paper return, you are responsible for making sure your return contains accurate information and is filed on time.

Refunds. You can have a refund check mailed to you, or you can elect to have your refund deposited directly to your savings or checking account. Make sure the "routing transit number" of your financial institution contains nine digits. Your return will be rejected if there are fewer than nine digits. Once an electronic return has been accepted by the IRS, you cannot cancel the direct deposit election nor can you change your RTN or bank account number.

Free electronic filing services are available for active duty and family members at: Staff Judge Advocate Tax Center, Building 275, Plummer St., Presidio of Monterey. The tax center phone number is 242-6381.

Explanation of classified ad policy

The following information is provided to explain and clarify policy for individuals who would like to publish classified ads in POM-Mart.

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees with valid identification cards are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at wright@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should be sure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads per household in different categories per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; itemized property for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Report typographical errors to the editor, and they will be corrected in the next available issue.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free – not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. The Community News does not take responsibility for items advertised.

Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized. Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled.

The date the ad was first published or renewed is printed in parentheses following each ad. For example, ads dated (01-28) will continue to run through the Feb. 25 issue. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue. Deadlines are generally a week and a half prior to the next publication. When calling in reference to an ad, be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number as printed and the date following the ad.

Deadline for the March 10 issue is Wednesday; deadline for the March 24 issue is March 15.

Refer questions concerning this policy to the editor of the Community News at the Public Affairs Office, at 242-5104 or 242-6426.
